

Cancer Prevention: Empowering our Local Community

Join us for an engaging and informative class focused on cancer prevention strategies tailored to empower our local community. Gain valuable insights into the latest research, practical lifestyle changes, and proactive measures to reduce the risk of cancer incidence. Learn about the importance of early detection, healthy living habits, and environmental factors influencing cancer development. From nutrition and physical activity to stress management and environmental awareness, this class will provide simple, actionable steps for anyone to take charge of their health and well-being.

When

Thursday, August 14
12 p.m. - 1 p.m.

Where

St. Anne Cancer Center
Conference Room
16233 Sylvester Rd SW
Burien, WA 98166

Instructor

Dr. Suzanne McMurry, ND, FABNO
Integrative Oncologist

Scan the QR
code to register
for this event!

About Suzanne McMurry, ND, FABNO, Integrative Oncologist

An expert in the field of integrative oncology, Dr. McMurry graduated in 2011 from Bastyr University in Kenmore, Washington with a medical degree in Naturopathic Medicine. At that time cancer had already touched her family. Her father had been diagnosed with a rare form of pancreatic cancer treatable only with conventional surgery. Soon after, her father-in-law was diagnosed with lung cancer.

Through these personal experiences she sought to attend one of only four accredited hospital-based residency's offered in Integrative Oncology. In 2013 she completed a two year residency at Indiana University Health Goshen, now Goshen Health. During her residency she collaborated with oncologists, radiation oncologists, surgeons, primary care physicians, dietitians, mental health counselors and acupuncturists, delivering collaborative, evidence supported integrated cancer care.

She is excited to increase access to integrative oncology with on-demand, video appointments enabling patients who currently have a cancer diagnosis to access expert care all over the country. By adding natural treatment regimens, you will feel better, sooner. Dr. McMurry is currently headquartered in Shoreline, Washington, where she lives with her husband, three beautiful children and dog.

Special thanks to Cancer Lifeline for supporting this live event.

Virginia Mason
Franciscan Health™
St. Anne Hospital